Celebrating a decade of Innovation, Education and Awareness: Canadian Livestock Transport (CLT) brings livestock transportation conference back to Calgary.

March 6, 2015 – Calgary

Canadian Livestock Transport (CLT) is excited to announce that they will be bringing livestock transportation back to center stage, a decade after the inaugural livestock transportation conference was hosted in Calgary in 2005. CLT is pleased to once again deliver this highly successful conference on May 6th, 2015, in conjunction with the Animal Transportation Association’s (ATA) International Conference.

This unique opportunity will allow CLT to showcase Canadian innovation and educational advancements to both our industry and an international audience. The Livestock Conference will also offer Canadian transporters and industry representatives exposure to valuable international experts.

Many topics relevant to livestock transport’s current situation will be discussed, and our keynote speaker of the conference, Dr. Temple Grandin, will be addressing the relevant topic of animal welfare during transportation. Other conference sessions include: the latest in hog transport research, the animal welfare expectations of the EU and UK during transport, new innovations in livestock transport, and welfare expectations at the plant level. The full agenda and registration information can be viewed at www.livestocktransport.ca.

CLT offers professional livestock transporters the opportunity to demonstrate their professional proficiency in transport through courses available for cattle, sheep, hog, equine and poultry. The CLT program is a standardized course offering certification that is recognized throughout Canada and United States.

CLT is managed by the Canadian Animal Health Coalition (CAHC), a non-profit organization that serves Canada’s farm animal industry. CAHC is a partnership of organizations recognizing a shared responsibility for an effective Canadian animal health system.

--30--

For more information, contact:

Geraldine Auston
National Coordinator
604-820-4451
info@livestocktransport.ca